Fine Art Registry® CEO Quoted in 360 Magazine

The art world continues to recognize FAR CEO Theresa Franks as one who's opinion and advice is well worth heeding. In the winter issue of 360 Magazine, she is quoted several times throughout their article "The Deal of the Art", covering the ins and outs of buying art at auction, cruise line art auctions and collecting in general.

Art Expert Thomas Hoving Cites FAR® Pollock Investigation in Artnet Article

fingerprints in his article entitled "The Fate of the $5 Pollock", published on artnet. The article is also illustrated with photographs of the Pollock museum taken by the FAR media team. Read it in its entirety here on the FAR website!

Oops! Was Salvador Dalí's Signature on Park West Gallery Prints Lifted from Somewhere Else?

by David Phillips

Did someone forget to remove the color from inside the loop of the "D" in Dalí's signature when they carefully applied it to a print in the Park West Gallery catalog of "The Divine Comedy, Sacra Biblia, Albaretto Collection, A Selection of Original Drawings?" We investigate...

A Portrait of the Architect as the Artist

by Dr. John Daab

Architects, in designing a building, traditionally combine squares, rectangles, triangles and circles or arcs (the elements of Euclidean geometry) to produce the kind of building you see in most city skylines. But some modern day architects have departed from the traditional design approach to create buildings that resemble works of art...
